You want your contractor to know their job but also to be aware of your time and budget constraints. Preferred Electric has the experience and knowledge to pull the job together.

For example:

City pumping station was running on faulty equipment. The Preferred Electric team arrived at 8 a.m. By 9:30 a.m., the station was running on 'auto' through the power of the Preferred Electric specially designed generator. The pumping equipment was on its way to the repair shop.

At 3 p.m., the call was received - the equipment was repaired and on its way back to the job site. At 3:15 p.m., the station was being rebuilt with the repaired equipment, back to its original form.

At 4:30 p.m., the job was complete.

No overtime was required by either the city or Preferred Electric.

No overtime meant cost savings!
